

AMERICA'S FUTURE UP TO EX-SERVICE MEN SAYS RIDDLE

Proper Vision Will Bring Progress, Judge Tells Legion Members.

SPECIAL MUSICAL PROGRAM PLEASURES

Post Preparing For Large Gathering When Gen. McQuigg Speaks.

The future of America rests with the four million men who saw service in the World war and through all the organizations that have come out of that war, but particularly the American Legion, Judge Lodge Riddle of the probate court at Lisbon told members of Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion, at a rousing meeting in the post rooms on Main st Monday night.

As Jesus, on his triumphant entry into Jerusalem, wept before the multitudes because in his vision he saw the city destroyed, so are the American Legion members today standing on the Mount of Olives looking into the future of America and with the proper vision they will carry the country through a fifty year period of progress and prosperity as have the men of the Grand Army in the past fifty years, said Judge Riddle.

To spread prosperity through the coming years the speaker urged legislation for the benefit of the whole country, rather than through "blobs" for the benefit of only one group or section of the country. He emphasized the power of organization and declared that every ex-service man should be a member of the Legion.

Post Commander Carl Yengling turned the meeting over to J. William Filson who presided during a most pleasing program. In addition to the judge's address, a saxophone duet by Martin June and D. T. McNabb, accompanied by Rollin Finley, pleased so much that encores were demanded. Mr. Brennan of the High school made a wonderful impression with his tenor solos, accompanied by J. William Filson, and H. Parker Lowell delighted with sketches drawn on the blackboard, demonstrating his ability as a cartoonist.

Announcement was made that much interest is being manifested in the banquet and address by Gen. John B. McQuigg of Cleveland, which will be an event of Thursday evening, April 5.

The membership contest will continue until April 9. The led side, captained by James Bullard, is leading Richard Hutcheson's Blue team.

GOLF COMMITTEES ARE ANNOUNCED BY CLUB'S PRESIDENT

Unclaimed Balls Will Be Disposed Of After April First.

Unclaimed golf balls recovered from the Salem Golf club's course will be disposed of if not claimed before April 1, director of the club announced following a meeting Monday night. There is a bushel basket full of unclaimed marked balls, which will be disposed of if not claimed before the first of the month.

The directors announce that the club will open the season with satisfactory prospects. The course will be in better condition than last year and already many players are enjoying the game. A few new members have been elected, the membership now being about 115.

William McCallum, professional in charge of the course, stated that the greens are in fine conditions having stood the winter well. President W. H. Dunn announced the following committees for the season:

Greens committee—A. B. Haslam, J. H. Brian, R. W. Campbell, R. B. Anderson, G. R. Deming.

Golf contest committee—Dr. L. W. Atkinson, Ray F. Carter, Nathan C. Hunt, C. C. Gibson.

House committee—G. R. Deming, F. J. Emery, Miss Judith Brooks, N. J. McKeefer of Leona, A. P. Mullins.

Entertainment committee—C. S. Carr, H. C. Nelson, A. K. Silver, R. S. McCulloch, Miss Helen Deming.

Membership committee—J. H. Brian, Dr. F. T. Miles, C. C. Gibson, A. W. Stoner, J. J. Bennett and W. W. Beck of Lisbon.

Finance committee—F. R. Pow, A. O. Silver, H. L. McCarthy.

May Change Lincoln Highway Route Here

Rumors are current that the route of the Lincoln Highway in Columbia county is to be changed, and if this be done it would be re-routed through Darlington, Pa., East Palestine and Salem.

It is understood that objection is made to the mile climb of the Pleasant Heights hill, East Liverpool, an unfinished condition of the road east from East Liverpool, and of the unfinished and obstructed condition of the road from Lisbon to Hanover.

Oil Millionaire's Wife Is Accused

Mrs. George Paddelford.

Mrs. George Paddelford, formerly the dashing Mrs. Ben Teal of New York and Long Island, who has achieved international notoriety, has been charged this time with defrauding Hollywood and Pasadena stores of more than $15,000 worth of merchandise, which she is said to have secured and sold. Her husband is suing her for divorce.

ENTIRE WORLD MOURNS DIVINE SARAH'S DEATH

Condolence Messages Are Pouring Into Paris From All Nations.

Paris, March 27.—Messages of condolence from all nations poured into Paris today, expressing the world's sorrow over the death of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, the "divine Sarah" who died last night.

The body was embalmed today and placed within a rosewood coffin. In death the face was serene and calm, just as it had been when Sarah passed from life into the Valley of Death.

Maurice Bernhardt, son of the world-famous actress, conferred with the leading theatrical men of Paris regarding the funeral. International honors will be paid to Mme. Bernhardt. It is expected that all nations be represented. Interment probably will be made on Friday.

President Miller and Premier Poincaré were among the first to extend their sympathy to members of Mme. Bernhardt's family. They said that they felt a great French citizen and an international force for extending French friendship had passed away.

End Is Peaceful. Abbe Kissler, of the Roman Catholic church of St. Francois, who administered the last rites and was present when Mme. Bernhardt died, said today he had never seen such a peaceful death.

"It was like going to sleep," said the clergyman. "Her eyes were closed, her features were composed and serene. She was at peace with the world and felt no fear for the future. She was a good woman."

Up to the very last, Mme. Bernhardt insisted that her health was all right and wished to resume her work in moving pictures. She even spoke about another trip to the United States upon her death bed. She said she knew the time was coming when she would have to leave the stage, but wanted to "make one grand tour before retiring into solitude."

The theater Sarah Bernhardt, owned by the famous tragedienne, was draped today in deep mourning. It is understood that the leading theaters

JUVENILE COURT SEEKS TO PREVENT CRIME SAYS JUDGE

Aims To Save Rather Than Punish, Judge Riddle Tells Rotarians.

COURT IS FRIEND OF WAYWARD CHILD

Renders Great Service To The Delinquent And To Society.

The juvenile court is not interested in punishment as such; its purpose is to understand so that it may be able to cure and prevent. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle of Lisbon told members of the Rotary club at their noonday luncheon in the Elks home Tuesday.

"The principal of the juvenile court grew out of the sympathy of the public for a child in trouble, together with the growing modern conception of the supreme importance of child protection and education," said Judge Riddle.

"In the juvenile court the question of guilt or innocence as to a particular act or acts is wholly subordinated, as it should be, to an examination of the character and condition of the child referred for attention.

"The underlying conception and dominant practice of the court is to ascertain the individual and social causes of the delinquency and to remove or counteract them. It is not interested in punishment as such, its purpose is to understand that it may be able to cure and prevent.

Checks Criminal Careers. "When operating effectively the juvenile court, together with its agencies, has the chance to check and prevent the development of criminal careers vastly more than has other courts. If it succeeds it renders to the delinquent and to society a service that is great indeed, because of the very fact of the moral and economical expensiveness of the continuance of the delinquency.

"When a child is brought into the juvenile court upon a delinquency charge it is our aim to have a preliminary investigation made, by the probation officer. In fact this preliminary investigation is generally made before the delinquent comes before the court.

"This investigation covers not only the particular subject matter of the proceeding, but the whole background of the case—the family history, the conditions of the child's home, his personal history, including his habits and his general conduct, his school history, and his working history if he has been employed.

"It being the purpose of the court to save rather than to punish, it is the constant aim of the court to avoid as much as possible anything to give the idea of prosecution and to conduct the proceedings in such a manner as to convince the child that the court is endeavoring to be his friend and to win his confidence."

Officers Nominated. Judge Riddle cited many examples of the cases of young boys who come into his court and his method of turning them into the right path rather than to blight their lives with terms in state institutions. He asked the support of the Rotary club in this work which was generously pledged.

Officers for 1923 were nominated at this meeting. The election will be at the next meeting, which will be Monday instead of Tuesday because most of the members and their wives are planning to attend the district convention in Akron next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The club received an invitation to attend a meeting with the Kiwanis club Monday night, April 9, to hear W. H. Dittoe of Columbus, outline the city's water problem.

Whinnery to Lead Presbyterian Men. Walter Strain Is Elected Teacher Of Brotherhood Bible Class.

Officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year and reports of activities of the class during 1922 were received at the annual meeting Monday evening of the Men's Brotherhood Bible class of the First Presbyterian church, held at the church.

A. Whinnery, vice president, Ambrose Duncan, secretary, J. B. Stephenson, assistant secretary, L. Frank Smith, treasurer, Frank Heckert, trustee, Walter Vincent and Dr. A. W. Schiller, teacher, W. L. Strain, assistant teachers, Grant Hill, Frank Heckert and Dr. T. T. Church.

An informal social hour followed the business session.

Movement Started To Limit Drug Narcotics. Washington, March 27.—The first definite step toward an international agreement to limit the world's supply of habit forming drugs was taken today when representatives of American drug manufacturers met with the federal narcotic control board to determine the exact amount of narcotics needed in the U. S. annually for legitimate scientific and medical usage.

Deny British Move In Ruhr Situation. London, March 27.—Reports that Great Britain is preparing to make a move towards intervention in the Ruhr are untrue, it was announced at the foreign office this afternoon.

Poland May Break Russian Relations. Warsaw, March 27.—Polish officials declared positively today that Poland will break off relations with Russia if the soviet executes Archbishop Cieplak, a native of Poland and a Roman Catholic prelate, who was condemned to death yesterday at Moscow.

Archbishop Cieplak's execution was set for Thursday.

It is understood that Great Britain, Italy and the Vatican made protests against the death sentence, asking that it be changed to expulsion. It is believed in some circles that this will be done.

Tremendous excitement prevails throughout Poland as practically all of the church prelates were natives of this country.

The Polish diet has adopted a resolution appealing to all nations to intervene in behalf of church men.

Dr. Preston Bradley, Famous Lecturer, Coming Thursday. Recently the congregation of Dr. Preston Bradley, who is to be heard on the Methodist lyceum course, Thursday night, leased the beautiful new Pantheon theater in Chicago with its seating capacity of 3,000 and its famous pipe organ, costing $75,000.

Until recently Dr. Bradley spoke on Sundays in the Wilson ave theater, but when the crowds became excessive other quarters were sought. This is Dr. Bradley's tenth session as a Chicago pulpit orator.

"Who's Who In America," in its terse history of Dr. Bradley, relates that he is a native of Michigan, a former student in the University of Michigan, founder of the People's church of Chicago in 1912, an eminent lecturer on the drama, philosophy, art and literature. He is closely identified with the Art Institute of Chicago, the Drama League of America, the Chicago Press club and the Authors Club of London, England.

Some of his lecturers are: "Democracy from Plato to Harding," "The Future Map of the World," "The United States of Tomorrow," from which it is plainly seen that he is thoroughly wide awake to leading themes of the reconstruction period. He will speak here on "The United States of Tomorrow."

Dr. Bradley has traveled extensively in Europe, and is a frequent contributor to leading magazines and newspapers.

No Water On These Streets Wednesday. The water department announced Tuesday that the water would be turned off from 8 a. m. until noon Wednesday on McKinley ave from South Union st to the city limits and on Park and Fair sts and Madison and Brooklyn aves, while repair work is being done.

Orders Third Jury Venire At Lisbon. Lisbon, March 27.—A third venire of 25 names was given Sheriff Gomar Lewis at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday as prospective jurors in the case of the state of Ohio against Edward Johnson, colored, charged with first degree murder as a result of the death of William T. Hyatt, railroad worker, and special Wellsville policeman, the night of Feb. 24, last.

The second venire of 55 names of prospective jurors who reported this morning in criminal court before Judge Fred H. Wolf, Wauseon, was exhausted at noon.

At this meeting the Salem council degree team will confer the second degree while T. J. Duffy and staff will be in charge of the third degree.

Ohio Man Must Die For Slaying Officer. Columbus, March 27.—Noble, alias "Red" Holt, Cincinnati, will be executed in the penitentiary April 27. The state supreme court sustained the first degree murder verdict of Holt, Hamilton county courts against him.

While he was being searched by the police for a revolver, Holt drew his gun and fired, killing Frank Huettlin, Cincinnati policeman, and wounding another officer.

ASKS AMENDMENT TO VOLSTEAD ACT TO LEGALIZE BEER. Albany, N.Y., March 27.—Gov. Smith believes a majority of the people of New York favor an amendment to the Volstead act that will permit the use of light wines and beer of a small alcoholic content.

The governor expressed this opinion in a letter he sent today to United States Senator Simon D. Fess, of Ohio, who had taken exception to the action of the New York legislature in memorializing congress for a modification of the Volstead law.

The governor suggested that congress fix 2.75 per cent as the maximum alcoholic content for beer and allow each state to fix the minimum by referendum.

"That surely is democratic government," the governor wrote. "It is the voice of the people themselves, and it is that is not the essence of democracy, then we had better turn the key in the door and go out of business."

The governor's letter, in part, follows: Governor's Letter. "The amendment asked is nothing more nor less than to define the term intoxicating beverages, as used in the eighteenth amendment in a way deemed by the legislature of the state of New York to be reasonable in order to permit the sale under stringent restrictions of beverages, which in point of fact, are deemed not intoxicating."

"Because the view of the legislature differs from your own, you write to me to comment upon the memorial that the sole issue is one of law enforcement with the distinct implication that the legislature is advocating the policy of non-enforcement of the law of the land."

"Speaking, I believe, for the state which I have the honor to represent, nothing could be further from the fact."

"The 18th amendment is today the law of the land and no one suggests, least of all the legislature of this state or myself, that it should be violated. None the less, the history of the way this amendment was ratified in the state of New York was illuminating as reflecting the widespread public opinion of New York."

"If prohibition and the Volstead act are the all-important issues that you claim them to be, it is evident that the majority of the people in the state of New York favor a rational amendment to Volstead act that will permit the use of beer and light wines of a small alcoholic content which are in fact, non-intoxicating beverages."

Post Signs Along Lincoln Highway. Lisbon, March 27.—Complaint having been made to the county highway department that trucks bearing overheads were damaging Lincoln highway from the Hanoverton township line to Minerva, County Engineer Lloyd Kirk has ordered signs posted on this road, limiting the combined weight of load and truck to seven tons. Signs were posted Tuesday and this road is included in the weight limit until April 15.

DITTOE WILL SPEAK AT MEETING UNDER KIWANIS AUSPICES

Club Will Invite Several Organizations To A Joint Meeting.

HEALTH ENGINEER TO DISCUSS WATER

Speaker April 9 Will Deal With Salem's Future Water Supply.

The Salem Kiwanis club will be host to city council, members of the Rotary club, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations Monday evening, April 9, when Chief Engineer W. H. Dittoe of the state department of health comes to this city to speak on the water question here.

Mr. Dittoe will speak on "Salem's Water Problem." He is well acquainted with the situation here through his work in Salem during the typhoid fever epidemic. His advice has been requested in the propositions submitted to city council by the Chamber of Commerce water committee and Service Director John Bristol, with regard to erection of either a steel tank or a reinforced concrete reservoir.

Health Commissioner T. T. Church has been appointed chairman of the committee to arrange for the meeting. It is planned to hold the meeting at 6:30 p. m. at the Elks home in place of the regular noonday luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club. President H. A. Gager will preside.

It is expected that the state engineer will go into the feasibility of the proposals for remedying the water situation here. His coming here follows a request of city council as it is desired to get immediate action on the question in order that it may be submitted to the people for approval or rejection. A bond issue for either of the two proposals will require a vote of the people.

Inasmuch as the water situation has been thoroughly discussed by practically every civic organization in the city, it is expected that plenty of interest will be manifested in the talk by the chief engineer.

All interested citizens are requested to attend and to send their names to E. E. Enderlin, secretary of the Kiwanis club, in order that arrangements may be made to serve them.

CALL EXAMINATION TO FILL VACANCY ON POLICE FORCE. A civil service examination for appointment to the Salem police department will be held Wednesday night, April 11, according to announcement made Tuesday by Roy W. Harris, secretary of the city civil service commission.

Announcement of the examination follows rejection of the names certified by the commission to Safety Director W. H. Hiddleston. Three names certified were rejected because of illegality of certification.

When these names were rejected, Director Hiddleston appointed William Bryn as a temporary officer to serve until another examination could be held. After serving 45 days, Hiddleston dropped Bryn because of lack of finances to continue his services.

With the dropping of Bryn from the force, but two officers in addition to Chief Thompson remained for duty. This situation can be remedied temporarily with the appointment of Bryn to act as temporary officer until the examination is conducted, according to Director Hiddleston.

While there are no funds available in the regular fund, Director Hiddleston has sufficient funds in the special appropriation to care for a special officer for at least 15 days.

Director Hiddleston appeared before the civil service commission at their recent meeting and stressed the need of an additional officer to help in carrying out the program against law violators here.

Application blanks for the examination can be secured from the secretary of the commission, Roy W. Harris, at the Harris Printing company, Green and Garfield ave, it was announced.

Passion For The Imported

THE word "imported" seems to have a fascination for the American buying public and the people are willing to pay a premium when they are told that an article was made in England or some other foreign country.

Put two pieces of the same cloth side by side. Label one domestic and the other imported. Price the imported piece a third higher than the domestic piece. And the average buyer will take the article labeled "imported." Apparently distance lends enchantment, and real values are ignored while the buyer comforts himself with the thought that he has something that was manufactured abroad and brought all the way across 3,000 miles of ocean for his delectation. But it is an empty distinction for American textiles are fully up to the standards of any other country in the world.

But woolen textiles is not the only important product to which the glamour of foreign manufacture seems to attach. Germany has the reputation of making certain articles better than can be produced in the United States. Dolls and other toys, Christmas tree ornaments, picture cards, and the like have an added character in the minds of many if they show the German label. Japan puts out a wide range of articles of paper, bits of wood, and much palm that seems to have an individualism of their own. Other countries send their products to our markets and are able to add something to their prices merely because of the magic word "imported."

Probably there is not a single article on the list the design of which is not duplicated by American factories, with better material and more careful workmanship. If the consumer in this country would look for the label "Made in America" before making their purchases they would find themselves possessed of better quality at less price than in the selection of imported goods. They would also be contributing to the commercial independence of their country, which would free them in the future from any disruption of foreign production and cessation of imports.

Let us get away from the idea that "imported" is a guarantee of superiority, and cling to the more likely truth that it is an indication of inferiority. Let us abandon the foreign fetish and accord our own producers the credit that they have earned. The selfish instinct to get the most for our money demands that we buy at home, and considerations of the highest patriotism point to the domestic market.

Men of Acknowledged Ability Have Failed in Efforts to Learn Even Simple Systems.

Lord Beaverbrook, speaking at the annual prize-giving of Pitman's school at the Royal Albert hall, says the London Morning Post, said that it was a curious fact that some men of great ability had failed in the attempt to learn shorthand.

He mentioned that Lord Carson was one example, and the present prime minister another. It was not a question of cleverness, or even of memory. Bonar Law possessed an extraordinary memory. When he first became leader of the conservative party, it was his habit on the occasion of any great set debate in the house of commons to dictate to his secretary the speech that he intended to make. He would read it through, and then go down to the house and repeat it with scarcely the alteration of a word. He would sometimes quote long mathematical calculations entirely from memory, yet he confessed to having striven very hard to learn shorthand, and without success.

T. M. Healy, now the governor general of the Irish Free State, used to make use of shorthand in the debates.—New York Tribune.

New Campaign Necessity.

The campaign just ended brought a rival to the old standby, the campaign cigar, always a favorite with the candidate if not with the smoker. Far-sighted seekers after office perceived the fact that women, even in these advanced days, are not keen for cigars, so, at several meetings in New York, attended by women voters, cigarettes were distributed. Some of the women disdained them, others placed them carefully in their handbags with a somewhat guilty look, but others asked for matches.—New York Letter to the Detroit News.

MRS. C. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. C. W. HALL, 639 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

When Twenty-Five and Twenty

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

October the tenth—that's my red-letter day. That is the day in my life that stands out preeminently above all other days. My marriage day? Not exactly. It's the day I knew Wenda loved me, the day we held each other in our arms for the first time and swore nothing in life should part us.

Romantic fools? Oh, I suppose so. We were twenty-five and twenty then, and neither had been tempered in the flame of life. But we did know, from observation, that love doesn't last.

We considered the cases of all the married people we knew, and there wasn't one couple as happy as we thought married folks ought to be.

And so Wenda and I took a vow under Farmer Bean's great oak tree. I smile when I recall it.

So long as we lived, no matter what happened to us, we'd meet once a year, every October the tenth, under Farmer Bean's oak tree, and renew our vows, and tell each other how the year had treated us.

Good Lord, what fools we were! That was thirty years ago. I'm fifty-five now, and Wenda's fifty, and life has been no picnic with either of us.

Some of these meetings have been comparatively placid. The year had done nothing much to us. Some have been stormy. Wenda and I both married in the same year, and it was the October tenth after that was the hardest.

"Did she suspect that you were coming to meet your sweetheart?" asked Wenda.

"Did he suspect?" I countered.

"We looked at each other and burst out laughing."

"How do you like being married, Harry?" Wenda asked. "Not all roses, is it?"

"Aren't you happy?" I asked. We had agreed never to use endearments; it was just because we had vowed to meet, we wanted to follow up each other's lives.

"He's got a temper," Wenda sighed. "I'm very fond of her," I said, "but—"

"Oh, Wenda, that first evening—that evening when we knew that we loved each other!"

"You must humor him, Wenda."

"You must be kind to her."

"It's hard sometimes," said Wenda.

"I did look forward to this meeting of ours. It gives us strength for the year, doesn't it?"

The years went by, and somehow we always contrived to meet. It was a delicious secret that we shared. I remember the day I first saw threads of silver in Wenda's hair.

"We're getting on in years, Harry. Don't you think we're too old for such foolishness. You and I, with children growing up?"

"That hurt me," I answered. But we were there the next October just the same.

Three years ago Wenda became a grandmother. We laughed over that. "I was wondering, Harry," she said, "how much this nonsense of ours has helped us."

"There was a time," I confessed, "when I think I should have gone away but for this meeting. Times when life has seemed impossible."

"I know all about that. But we've always had each other to lean upon. That's strengthened us. Do you realize the time will come when there will be only one of us to come here?"

That saddened both of us. Wenda's hair was quite white, and mine was pretty thickly threaded. Last year I said to Wenda:

"I'm not going to meet you here any more."

Vague alarm in her eyes. "Why?" "Because you're going to run away with me."

"Harry! What do you mean?" "Here we are, two middle-aged persons—and that only by courtesy. Your children and mine have both grown up and left us. Two old persons, with a longing to be happy together. Why shouldn't we just go off somewhere—well, for a long time. To Europe—or well, Florida. Somewhere where we can have a honeymoon together and forget the cares of life. Will you meet me tomorrow night at ten at the Union station?"

"Harry, you—do you mean that?" "Every word of it, darling."

"She put her arms round my neck. 'Then, Harry, I'll come.'"

"She met me at ten o'clock, carrying only a suitcase. I was waiting for her. I took her to Florida, then we spent three months in Cuba and among the islands. That was our real honeymoon. At last we came back."

"Scandal? Not a bit of it. You see, that was the game we had devised to keep ourselves young and in love. Wenda and I have been married thirty years next October the tenth."

Not a Pot-Boiler. Alfred Noyes, the Englishman who holds the chair of literature at Princeton, makes poetry pay, but William Butler Yeats, a real poet, says that his writings bring him only $150 a year.

A journalist consoled with Mr. Yeats one day on his small income, but the bard smiled and said: "The fires of genius never make the pot boil."

EX-MAYOR FILES NEW OUSTER SUIT

Vogt Files Action Against Successor in Massillon Fight.

Columbus, March 27.—Herbert H. Vogt, whom Gov. A. V. Donahey removed as mayor of Massillon, brought suit today in the state supreme court to oust Mayor M. P. L. Kirchoffer from the position and to have himself reinstated as Massillon's chief executive.

This is the second suit Vogt has brought in the supreme court in an effort to gain reinstatement. He filed a petition in mandamus March 17 asking the court to compel Gov. Donahey to reinstate him.

Both petitions raise practically the same contentions, that his removal was unwarranted by the evidence, that he had been denied a full public hearing and that sections of the law under which Gov. Donahey acted in removing him are unconstitutional.

While today's action was directed against Kirchoffer, president of council, who automatically became mayor on Vogt's removal, the first was directed against Gov. Donahey.

The petition in ouster alleges that Kirchoffer is holding the office illegally and asks the court to compel him to show cause why he should not be made to yield the office to Vogt.

It is expected that both petitions will be heard by the court at the same time, inasmuch as both actions seek to accomplish the same end—reinstatement of Vogt.

The ouster action is said to have been instituted by Vogt's attorneys because there appeared to be some doubt as to the method of procedure—whether by mandamus against the governor or by ouster against Kirchoffer. By bringing the action both ways they were certain not to be thrown out of court on technicalities.

LIBON MERCHANTS UNEASY AFTER TWO ROBBERIES DURING WEEK-END.

Libon, March 27.—Since the two robberies in Libon, Chief Lewton has called on the citizens of the village to keep a watchful eye for suspicious strangers and to note any activities in houses whose owners are known to be absent.

Libon's police force at present consists of one policeman and two traffic dummies. The traffic cops are not expert thief catchers and the one policeman has to spread himself out to cover the entire town.

The fact that the same sort of methods were used in both robberies leads officials to believe they were the work of the same people. Thieves about the houses, and other clues found indicate that there are two in the gang and that one of them is a woman.

Business men are getting uneasy about the depredations and are about to petition the mayor to form a volunteer police force or engage another officer to help the lone guardian of the peace in the village.

BERNHARDT, FAMED ACTRESS, DEPARTS FROM LIFE'S STAGE

Paris, March 27.—Sarah Bernhardt died peacefully in the arms of her son, Maurice, at one minute before 8 o'clock last night. In life she had had an amazing power of emotion, of marvelous realism and pathos in her acting of death scenes. At the end of her days she quietly drifted away into eternity, tired after her long fight against death, which she did not wish, but never feared.

Hope for the life of the great actress had long since been abandoned, and half an hour before she passed away, those in attendance found her sinking beyond recovery, though knowing her recuperative powers, it was thought she might live through the night.

Mme. Bernhardt died in a large room on the second floor of her home with windows wide open on the Boulevard Piere, the noise of trucks and the railroad keeping up a low roar to which she was long accustomed. It was the sudden closing of those windows, opened on the finest day of spring, that gave the signal to these waiting and watching without that Bernhardt was dead.

Death was due to a renewed attack of uraemic poisoning which began Friday, but the actress astonished her physicians by her repeated rallies and her will to live, just as she did last December. When hope had been several times abandoned. A priest had been hurriedly summoned in the middle of the afternoon when symptoms of the gravest nature supervened, but Bernhardt rallied and regained lucidity. The priest administered extreme unction which she acknowledged with faint movements of the hand and head, too weak to speak.

MISS KING SOUGHT ARREST OF SUITORS

New York, March 27.—Three days before Dorothy King, gilded girl of Broadway, was found mysteriously slain, she was considering having one of her admirers arrested on two complaints—seeking by threats and intimidations to compel her to become a hure for the projected blackmail of rich suitors and for beating her on many occasions.

That information, to be embodied in an official report to County Medical Examiner Charles Norris, came today from George Rebrun, Norris' secretary. Lebrun got the information in a first hand interview with Dorothy King's mother, Mrs. Anna Keenan.

Ex-Premier Kerensky May Be Arrested.

Alexander Kerensky, former Russian premier, is one of the most prominent of the 22 leaders of the Socialist-Revolutionist party who are expected to surrender to the Soviet government in Russia as hostages for those members of their party who were imprisoned after trials in Moscow last summer. The convicted men are said to have been broken in health by their confinement and the brutal treatment accorded them. To save their lives Kerensky and his associates plan to take their places in prison. Kerensky is suffering from tuberculosis, and imprisonment for ever so short a time would kill him.

Safe Movies.

A "movie" picture show in the home by the aid of a machine which has no more to do with lights or inflammable things than a typewriter or a sewing machine is an accomplished fact.

The "moviescope," the invention of an Englishman, throws pictures on its unassuming mirror simply by means of ordinary daylight or the artificial light used to illuminate the room.

The pictures are seen with extraordinary clearness. It depends on the viewer—who is also the operator—whether the picture is a slow-motion affair or one of normal movement.

First Christian Church H.L. Miller

Ellsworth Avenue. 7:30 p. m.

Let our minds this week follow our Saviour. Behold, we go up to Jerusalem and the Son of Man shall be condemned, scourged, crucified, but the third day he shall be raised up.—Matt. 20:17-19.

The multitude, when he was come into Jerusalem, said, "This is the prophet, Jesus, from Galilee."—Matt. 21:9-11. Then cometh Jesus to Gethsemane, and prayed, "Let this cup pass away from me, nevertheless, not my will but thine be done."—Matt. 26:39-44.

When they came to place called Gogotha, they crucified Him mocking Him.—Matt. 27:33-44.

Father, forgive them for they know not what they do. On the first day of the week, came the Marys to the tomb. Lo! the stone is rolled away, and behold, Jesus met them, saying, "All hail!"—Matt. 28:1-10.

Old Sidman's Sirup
By CLARA DELAFIELD
(c. 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

OLD SIDMAN was ill. Sidman was very ill. It was not exactly old age, but he was only a little past sixty. Put some people, when they grow old, lose interest in life. Sidman was losing interest in life.

This was peculiar, in its way. He had a nice wife, a lovely daughter, and a magnificent home in the suburbs. Sidman was nearly a millionaire. Life was at his beck and call. He was the inventor of that world-renowned remedy Sidman's Sirup.

He revealed the cause of his world-weariness to his wife in a moment of despondency.

"Fact is, I'm a fake, Mamie," he said. "I've spent my life piling up millions fooling the populace, and I guess it's come home to roost. That there sirup—"

"Now, darling, I won't hear a word against Sidman's Sirup," replied his wife, for she firmly believed in the proprietary remedy. She used it for everything from sprains to asthma. So did Susie, the daughter. So did the maids. Even Sidman's friends took his sirup occasionally, for bronchitis or chilblains.

"It's water, dearie," said Sidman in a broken whisper. "Water and advertising and a few harmless herbs. And that's what's got me."

Mamie Sidman was not convinced. It is hard to persuade a loving woman that you are an impostor. Mrs. Sidman had always believed in Sidman's Sirup and always would.

"It's the herbs that make it what it is," she answered. "Those wonderful herbs gathered by night on the dew-swept hills of India."

"It's the advertising," said Sidman with weak conviction.

Mrs. Sidman took the matter to the family doctor. "My husband's got a delusion that his wonderful remedy is a fake, doctor," she said.

The doctor, who knew it was a fake, hemmed and hawed.

"So that's what's wearing him away?"

"That's it, doctor. He thinks he's spent his life making money out of a fake. How can it be a fake," she continued indignantly, "when only last month the maid had such a bad headache. I gave her a dose of Sidman's Sirup and a little aspirin and sent her to bed, and next morning she woke up perfectly well."

"We must get that idea out of his system, then," said the doctor, who was a diplomatist. "If once we can convince him that his sirup is not a fake he will begin to mend."

Three days later, when Sidman was a little better, the doctor came to him with an air of professional secrecy.

"Well, Mr. Sidman, we've turned the corner at last," he said, "and I'm going to reveal to you what's done it. I've been treating you with your own sirup."

"What's that?" shouted Sidman incredulously.

"The most wonderful stuff ever invented," said the doctor, and went on with a noble lie. "I've prescribed your sirup in my practice constantly for years past, but I never tried it before in such a complicated case as yours. Hereafter I shall prescribe Sidman's Sirup for everything."

"But it's only colored water and a few herbs," exclaimed Sidman.

"It may be so, my friend, but those herbs have done the trick. Henceforward you will mend steadily. And you must never let a day go by without using your magnificent sirup."

A week later Sidman was out of bed. A month later he was at his office, with all the interest in life renewed, dictating the contents for a new advertising folder about Sidman's Sirup.

"Doctor, you're a wonderful person," said Mrs. Sidman. "I just knew that his sirup would cure him. But he had got so downhearted that he couldn't even be persuaded to try it. Now that he believes in his sirup again he's like a different man."

"Ye-es," said the doctor, and went away.

"Funny thing," he confided to a professional friend. "I was telling you how old Sidman had lost his grip because he didn't believe in his sirup any more. Well, I pretended to the old boy that I was curing him with his own medicine. He thought he was taking doses of Sidman's Sirup three times a day, and it positively made a new man of him. Actually what do you suppose I was giving him?"

"Tonics, hypophosphates—"

"None. Colored water. In fact, it was, in a way, Sidman's Sirup, and just as innocuous. But it fooled him just as he fooled the public."

The other laughed. "The mind certainly works wonders," he said.

"Yep. The mind or the advertising," replied Sidman's doctor.

"Bad Form" in Conversation.

It was said of a well-known Englishman, famed for his wit and insinuation, that "he was a great gentleman and did not talk to score." Herein is indicated one of the commonest failures among people who, in this sense at any rate, are not finely bred. They will score over a conversational opponent at any price. They love to win, and, as they would express it, "to wipe the floor with the other man." There are women, too, who are not satisfied when talking with other women unless they can "go one better" than the previous speaker every time. "Sparring" is hardly ever agreeable; too often it verges on bad form, which means inconsiderateness.—Exchange.

U. S. LAWMAKERS' SALARIES SMALL

HARD TO "GET BY" IN WASHINGTON ON $7,500 A YEAR, SOLONS SAY.

BILL ASKS $2,500 INCREASE

Senators and Representatives Do Not Complain Openly, but Drafts on Their Purses Are Heavy, Including Charity Demands, Loans, etc.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—It probably can be taken for granted that most of the members of congress elected last fall are hoping in their hearts that by some fortuitous chance the bill that Representative Upshaw presented to increase the pay of senators and representatives from $7,500 to $10,000 a year will be sanctioned so that they can reap the benefit.

Generally speaking, it may be said the chances seem to be that the incoming congress will withhold its approval of the Upshaw measure, not because it does not want the money but because of fear of criticism from the country.

It may seem strange to men of small salaries to hear that a great many congressmen, who are not spend-thrifts by any manner of means, have a hard time living on their incomes, at least while in the city of Washington. As a rule senators and members do not complain openly, but the drafts on their purses are heavy, not only to meet the high cost of living in Washington but to meet charity demands, loan demands and many other kinds of demands.

It was not so many years ago that the senators and members of congress voted an increase in their salaries from $5,000 to $7,500. At the same time there was an increase voted in the salaries of many other officers of government. The excuse was the high cost of living, and as Americans probably realized, it was more or less a legitimate excuse. The increase passed with barely a word of protest from the country. It may not be so, however, if an attempt is made to tack another twenty-five hundred on to the existing congressional wage.

Come Urge $20,000 a Year.

There are some Americans who have urged that representatives and senators in congress should be paid at least $20,000 a year. Men who have urged this have said the comfortably large salary would induce men of high position and professional attainments to enter politics and thus the country would benefit by better-considered legislation. This argument may or may not be well based. As things are today, the average ability in congress is fairly high, but not exceptionally high. In truth, the judgment of men seems to be that representation in the two houses of congress is that of the average quality of American mentality and American manhood, and that this quality is just what the spirit of our institutions demands.

Some years ago, before the great war, congress raised the pay of army officers and did it ungrudgingly, for it was shown that with the increase in prices of things the army men could not live on their pay and keep out of debt. It was just about this time also that the pay of the President of the United States was increased, and with the increase there was the passage of a bill providing for money to pay the President's traveling expenses.

Roosevelt Urged Allowance.

It was Theodore Roosevelt who, while president, urged that an allowance be made to the chief officer of government for his expenses while traveling. Roosevelt, however, was careful to ask that the law granting the money for transportation should not take effect until he had gone out of office.

There have been times when congress showed an evident desire to grab a little something to put down to its own cash account. About fifteen years ago one session of congress lasted until noon of the December day that the new session began. The representatives argued they were entitled to mileage for the new session, although they already had drawn mileage for the previous session, and of course there was no chance to go home and back again between sessions when one merged into the other, as was the case in this instance.

The representatives looked about for someone who would be brave enough to put in a bill providing for mileage for miles never traveled. They had great difficulty in finding a volunteer. Finally, however, they induced a representative who afterwards became vice president of the United States to introduce the mileage bill. It should be said for him that he believed technically the mileage measure was legitimate. He introduced the bill and the house somewhat vociferously approved.

Then came not a murmur but a roar from the country. The representatives were called grafters and other things not quite so polite. They took alarm and the senate took alarm with them. The house bill was sent over to the senate, and it is generally understood that leading representatives asked the senate to kill the measure. Anyway it was killed, and neither senators nor representatives were paid mileage for miles not traveled.

EDUCATION AT SMALL COST

Writer Urges Publication of Little Books That Could Be Circulated by the Thousand.

In the old days little books could be had in France for the price of postage stamps—that is, for ten centimes, or two cents, each. Even now the prices are only four or five times as great, and the Frenchman who is going out of Paris for an hour's journey can supply himself with "Eugene Grandet" in two numbers, or "Sappho" in three, or "Polemik" or "Faust" or the "Odyssey" in four, at the cost of 35 to 50 centimes a number. The paper-bound books which have just been issued in this country are much more expensive, to be sure, but the paper and print are also of much better quality, and the cost of production could certainly be cut, without any loss in usefulness. In the matter of price, the American booklets now sold at 20 cents rank with the popular magazines, rather than with books, and it is in competition with the popular magazines that a series like Artheme Fayards should be sold. If a book filled with such little books could be installed on every news stand in the subway of New York, and then eventually on several thousand news stands up and down the country, the enterprise might eventually more than pay its way; and in any case it would be worth more to the people of these states than the fastest of endowed universities.—From the Freeman.

WOOD HAS MANY ADVANTAGES

Reconstructed Material That Can Be Molded Instead of Usual Costly Process of Carving.

From shavings and sawdust, combined with suitable binders, there is now being made a reconstructed wood that is said to have many advantages. The process was originated by Prof. George Kennerly, of the chemistry department of the University of Wisconsin, and the new material has been used commercially since last winter, and has been found to be better than wood for certain purposes.

The sawdust, after being mixed with a new binder material, is put into a mold, and subjected to a pressure of from 500 to 1,000 pounds per square inch. The resulting product is much tougher and harder than ordinary wood, does not split, and is practically impervious to water. This reconstructed wood takes finishes, such as varnish and enamel, very well. Its chief use is in the manufacture of articles of irregular shape, such as toilet sets, radio dials, and variometer rotors. Instead of having to undergo the tedious and costly process of carving, as in the case of ordinary wood, the process pulp can be put into a suitable mold, placed under pressure, and when dry the product is hard, grainless, and seamless.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Treasure for British Museum.

The latest addition to the natural history department of the British museum is the skull and tusks of a Siberian mammoth, the first ever brought into western Europe. This skull was dug out of the ice on one of the Siberian islands of the Arctic. Preserved as it was in cold storage through countless ages, it is remarkably fresh, even to the fragments of skin still attached to the great jaws. By examining the teeth, which are in excellent condition and about six inches in diameter, experts have established that they belonged to a full grown female mammoth. The bones of the head are snow white, in contrast to the usual fossil bones, which are stained brown or black. The tusks are 12 feet long and the ivory is in perfect condition. Their value as ivory is placed at $1,500. Large quantities of fossilized ivory, dug up in various parts of Siberia, are being shipped to England for sale. A shipment of these remains arrived recently and was sold for prices higher than paid for Indian ivory tusks.

First Voluntary Hospital.

Westminster hospital, which is to be enlarged by the addition of another story, was the first institution established by voluntary contributions in London. It was begun in a small house in Birdcage walk in 1715, chiefly through the efforts of Henry Hogue, who formed a society "for the relief of the sick and needy at the Public Infirmary in Westminster," and developed so rapidly that within a few years a new building had to be acquired in Chapel street, providing accommodation for 60 patients. Another removal a few years later led to the resignation of a number of the governors, who subsequently founded the St. George's hospital at Hyde Park. The present building was erected in 1834.

Sportman's Point of View.

Two brothers, five and six years old, were at the seashore and spent most of the time fishing. One noon they were astonished to see the maid bring in heaping soup plates of steamed clams. The older one, turning to his brother, exclaimed in astonishment, "Say, have we got to eat this perfectly good bait?"—Youth's Companion.

Bad Lighting Dangerous.

In Philadelphia there are more people killed yearly as a result of bad lighting than there are from automobile accidents. In homes and streets where the lighting is bad people fall frequently, in many cases receiving fatal injuries. The hazard of bad lighting was ascertained by figures a leading insurance company compiled.

When America was discovered canabollism was quite prevalent. TBY THE SALEM NEWS

BRAVES' MANAGER IS OPTIMISTIC IN DAYS OF TRAINING

Mitchell Has Youngsters Who Can't Miss Being Big Leaguers.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27.—Manager Fred Mitchell, whose sad-looking Braves staggered into the cellar early last spring and a week there all through the season, is one of baseball's optimists these days of 1923 spring training.

He hasn't any pennant claiming ball club but he has what all managers want and seldom get, to wit, four of five kids who can't miss being big leaguers before much of their careers unfold.

It may be remembered that McGraw, Gibson, Rickey, et al, expressed that respect for the Braves just before the season opened a year ago.

The same power that created this respect is still present here on the Boston baseball club. Southworth's knee is as good as ever, Fillingim, a great spitballer who also had a bad prop, has been made over and Stuff McInnis, still one of the best of first basemen, is working harder than he ever did in the spring to show that the American league booted one when he was let out.

Ford, one of the best infielders in the league, reported this spring down to playing weight. Boeckel is hustling with a couple of kids we have mentioned on the trail of his job. Larry Kopf is still on hand, but not at all sure of his position because of the same youthful competition.

Sextet of Tried Pitchers

Southworth, Powell, Cruise and Nixon make up a fast, capable outfield. They also are doing plenty of spring hustling.

Fillingim, Oeschger, Marquard, Watson, Miller and Lansing are tried pitchers, who have rounded easily into their best early season form. There are at least three of the youngsters who will cling for half the season, anyhow, namely, Tim McNamara, Fordham university product, Johnny Cooney, who has been with the club for two seasons and Joe Genewich, a semi-pro from Elmira, N. Y.

McNamara is all set to become one of the league's best hurlers. He has a great head in addition to everything else that a pitcher needs.

Arthur Devlin, infield coach, stamps three of the young grinder-grabbers as "sure big leaguers, far better than the average." They are Arthur Conlon, last year's Harvard captain; Bob Smith, from New Orleans and Ernie Padgett, from Charlotte of the Sally league. All three are shortstops but Smith and Conlon have also been playing third base down here.

In conclusion, we will say that for our part the Braves look good enough to finish a lot higher than they did a year ago. They now have the substitute material, the lack of which proved so ruinous in 1922, when the bones began to crack and the pitching arms to tangle up.

BUFFALO HERDS HAVE GROWN

Animals in Canadian Government Preserve Must Be Killed to Prevent Evil of Overcrowding.

Twenty-five years ago the Canadian government purchased a small herd of buffalo and placed it in a national park at Banff. For several years the herd was regarded merely as an object of curiosity. Then a game preserve was decided upon, and the herd, together with other buffalo acquired from a United States rancher, was turned into the enclosure. The preserve is located at Wainwright, Alta., and extends over 162 square miles of sandy prairie which was considered unsuitable for agriculture. The buffalo, 700 in number, thrived from the start, and last spring the caretakers counted 3,146 of the animals. Although the 1922 "crop" cannot be counted until the hison are herded into their winter quarters, it is estimated that there will be an addition of at least 1,000 calves. Besides this herd at Wainwright, there are other buffalo in Canada in sufficient numbers to bring the total up to approximately 9,000 head, and the government is preparing to kill about 1,000 of them every year to prevent the preserves from becoming overcrowded.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

LISBON BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Lisbon, March 27.—The Lisbon city baseball league held its organization meeting last night in the city hall. Six teams were represented—the Masons, Miners, Industrial, Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Presbyterian.

George Bradbury was named president, R. P. Crawford, vice president and W. R. Phillips, secretary-treasurer.

A committee composed of managers of the teams, with Harry Roller as chairman, will draft the rules and make the season's schedule. It was announced at a meeting to be held April 30.

Forty-eight games will be played. The league last year finished the season and paid all expenses and had a comfortable margin in the treasury. Games are to be played on Monday and Friday evenings. A new diamond is being built on the county fair ground for the league's use.

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"

DO YOU EVER HAVE AN "EYE-HEAD-ACHE"

An eye-headache sometimes accompanied by an earache and burning sensations of the eyes is caused by an over effort of the brain to understand a blurred image that has been thrown on the retina of the eye. In the eye-camera the foci are changed by the eye muscles that swell and reduce the shape of the crystalline lens. When these muscles become weakened an optometrist must prescribe the outer-man-made lenses to bring about this focus accommodation.

NO MORE CHRISTMAS CARDS

Woman Has Made Up Her Mind to Make Real Gifts to Friends at Next Holiday Season.

"Next Christmas," started Mrs. "Yeh, I know," interrupted Mr. "Next Christmas," placidly pursued Mrs. "I shall give all gifts and no cards at all."

"Huh!" grunted Mr. "What'd I want to do—bankrupt us?" "Not at all," replied his wife. "I won't spend a cent more than I spent this year. But I've sworn off cards. They don't mean anything any longer. Business firms and banks send them out. They're as common as flies in summer. I'm going to send all gifts, and I'm sure every one will be better pleased all around."

"But just how," inquired Mr. "Just how are you going to do this with no extra money?"

"Easy," she answered. "Oh, they'll be humble gifts, of course! But the elaborate cards they get out nowadays cost as much as small gifts. Our cards cost 50 cents apiece and we bought 20. Now, why not 40-cent presents instead? They carry twice as much sentiment. All our friends will think better of us and we save money."

"Huh!" said Mr., returning to his paper.

MORTGAGE BURNED BY AGED VETERANS

Donations And Basketball Game Aid G. A. R. Men Of E. Palestine.

Sufficient money to pay off a mortgage and to furnish repairs on the G. A. R. hall at East Palestine were raised through a basketball game and contributions coming from friends of the post in that city Monday night.

Tuesday morning the aged veterans burned the mortgage and expressed hearty appreciation to their benefactors.

The game was staged between the members of the American Legion team and the independent team of Darlington, Pa. Gate receipts showed a sum of $220. The players donated their services and paid their own expenses. The hall in which the game was played and was donated and the music was provided free of charge. East Palestine won by a score of 44-20.

These amounts were contributed to the G. A. R. Basketball game proceeds, $220; St. Mary's parish, $50; Sons of Veterans, $100; Mrs. K. L. Rothwell, member of the W. R. C., $100; Women's Relief Corps, $100.

Former Iron Puddler Beats Wall St.

Clarence Saunders

Clarence Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., formerly an iron puddler and later an $18-a-week grocery clerk, expects to clean up $7,500,000 from his corner on Piggly Wiggly stock, a corporation of chain stores he organized and controlled. Wall st., in a frenzy of selling, went far short on stock, which the brokers cannot deliver, and Saunders is demanding $250 a share for the stock. It has been barred from the New York Stock exchange.

Leetonia News

A number of new homes have been built in the neighborhood of the Summit in the past few years. These with those already nearby are forming a nucleus for a village likely to spring up about this business center.

Wadell's Summit has become quite a business center, according to reports. There is more business done there over the Y. & O. than over the railroads in Leetonia. Carloads of slag have been unloaded there recently and are being hauled over Salem township, for road improvement. B. L. Farrington, township road supervisor, has a force of men at work.

Beninghoff and Redfoot are buying, hauling and shipping logs from the Summit siding. Large quantities of fertilizer are also being hauled to adjacent farms. Materials for road construction just beyond Wadell's on the Leetonia-Lisbon highway, are also being unloaded.

Mrs. Hagerty, of Lisbon, visited her daughters, Mrs. Thomas Turney, Jr., several days last week.

Mrs. Royse Briggs visited Mrs. David Wolfgang in Columbiana the latter part of the week.

P. F. Cavanaugh has gone to Buffalo where he has accepted a position.

"CASCARETS" 10c BEST LAXATIVE FOR BOWELS

To clean out your bowels without cramping or overacting, take Cascarets. Sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, sour, upset stomach, and all such distress gone by morning. Nicest physic on earth for jargonville called on Leetonia friends grown-ups and children. 10c a box. Taste like candy.

Ella of Washingtonville were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Girard Sunday.

Harry Lodge, who was caught in the wheel of a gasoline engine several days ago, is slowly improving from the effects of a broken jaw, crushed cheekbone and other bruises sustained at that time.

Mrs. Inez Switzer, who has been a guest in the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Howell in Columbia st., for several days returned to her home in Mariaboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simpson announce the birth of a son Saturday morning, March 24. The little man will answer to the name Robert.

Mrs. Raymond Greenmyer was a Youngstown caller during the week. Clarence Brinker and family were guests of Mrs. Brinker's father, Mervin Farmer Sunday.

Mrs. George Wiedmayer and Miss Mildred Wiedmayer were guests of Youngstown friends Saturday.

David Cook has rented the Bud Halverstadt home south of Leetonia and will occupy it with his family in the near future.

It will be recalled that the owner Mr. Halverstadt suddenly disappeared last summer leaving his farm and stock and as yet his whereabouts is unknown.

Miss Grace Royer spent Saturday, calling on friends and shopping in Columbiana.

Miss Loretta Faloan and Miss May Eyester of Washingtonville spent Saturday evening with Mrs. Harry Tittler.

Ray Keller, south of town, is recovering from a very serious operation performed at the Salem hospital last week.

Mrs. George Royer was the guest of her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Heintzelman at Washingtonville Saturday.

Mrs. Jessie Griffith and Miss Grace Royer were Columbiana shoppers Saturday.

Mrs. George Kilkenny has returned from New Castle, Pa., where she was called by the critical illness of her sister Mrs. J. J. Cunningham, who is suffering from pneumonia.

More than $100 was realized by the Methodist church from the "Tom Thumb" wedding entertainment last week.

Mrs. Harry Laughlin who spent several weeks in Calcutta during the illness and death of her mother Mrs. Thomas McIntosh returned to her home here the last of the week.

The young people of Midway grange will give a dancing party Wednesday evening at the grange hall near Leetonia.

The Salem business places continue to attract numerous Leetonians to that city. Within the last few days the following have visited Salem: Miss Jennie McCormick, Miss Helen Strouse, Miss Mary McCormick, Mrs. Harry Neiheisel, Miss Jessie Mowry, Miss Sue Bixler, Mrs. Alfred Grace, Mrs. Harry Gibson and daughter Grace, Miss Ada McMillen, Miss Charlotte Feyock, Mrs. William Strawhecker, Mrs. Robert Cushing and Harry Lampher.

Lisbon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Esterly and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fronk and children, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Switzer and children, and Mrs. Lester E. Fisher.

Mrs. Louis Leonard and daughter Miss Sara, and Henry Stier of Columbiana were Leetonia callers Sunday.

Sugar camps about Leetonia have been opened and are yielding a fair crop of syrup.

MANY MEASURES FAIL TO PASS

THOUSANDS OF BILLS DIE WITH EACH EXPIRING CONGRESS
AT WASHINGTON

CHANCE FOR RESURRECTION

Lawmaking Body Is Not Defunct, as
There Are Several Committees at Washington Which Are Working—
What Capitol Is Like in Summer.

Washington.—Thousands of bills failed of passage at the last session of congress. The Sixty-seventh congress died, and every bill died with it. There must be a resurrection of every measure which died and was buried if renewed life is to be given the legislation suggested. When a congress dies proposed legislation dies with it.

Moving operations still are in progress. Of course in one sense the departure of men disappointed of reelection was a moving spectacle, but the moving which is taking place now is such as is seen in many a city of the country on that moving day of all moving days, May first. Out of the house and senate office buildings personal belongings of senators and members are going daily. The men who failed of reelection will have in their houses some perhaps more or less painful reminders of their active days as national legislators.

Congress, in a way, however, is not defunct. There are several committees of congress which are here and are working. The members on these committees of course are confined to holdover congressmen either of the senate or of the house. One committee is investigating the street railway situation of the national capital. There has been a demand here for five-cent fares, and so a committee of congress, which is really the city council of Washington, will dig into matters to see whether or not, as the petitioners claim, the companies can make money out of five cents a passenger, or whether or not, as the companies claim, they will go into bankruptcy if any such cut in rate is attempted.

Capitol in Summer.

Then there is another committee which will investigate the veterans' bureau and its doings of the last three or four years. It is probable a joint committee may undertake to plan for the reclassification of the salaries of the employees of what is exclusively Uncle Sam's legislative branch. Many of the other employees of the government were cured for in the reclassification measures which passed the last congress.

Prior to this the story has been told of what the capitol looks like in summer, and what is done to it in the way of cleaning and repainting. There are other things, however, which must be done by the persons who hold executive positions in the capitol. Contracts must be made for supplies for the comfort of congressmen during the coming year. The lawmakers need towels and stationery, and ice, and scores upon scores of other things to keep them contented and more or less happy when the two houses are in session. All these things must be contracted for and be ready for delivery on the dot.

All the documents which bear on legislation, proposed or enacted during the last congress, must be preserved for reference purposes for congresses which are to come. There is an almost appalling number of these documents. It is necessary to separate them into subjects and to index them, and to store them where they may be available for reference purposes in the next congress or the congresses thereafter. Of course it is possible to classify most of the bills with reference to the committees which gave them consideration. This helps.

Old Bills on Record.

Naturally in the course of time thousands of congressional documents lose to a great extent their value as reference records. Many of the bills were proposed with no belief they ever could be enacted into law. In the storehouses of the capitol there are thousands of printed sheets which one day or another can be turned over to the library of congress, or to such other government institution as may regard them with interest. It is understood, however, that one copy of every bill is kept handy for all time because of the chance, remote though it may be, that somebody may ask for it for the purpose of reviving it in another form, or merely to get some information therefrom which may bear on some measure which is proposed.

Judging from the questions and the remarks made by visitors to Washington, it seems fair to assume that a good many people in the United States think that all newly-elected members of congress must take the oath of office on March fourth, the day on which their service begins. No new member takes his oath of office on March fourth unless perchance the president should have called an extra session for that day. Members and senators take the oath on the day that they enter on their actual service in either house. Next December, provided there is no extra session in the meantime, every member of the house will be sworn in to office and every newly-elected member of the senate also will take the oath.

Congressmen are paid for their services before they are sworn in.

IS HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH OR COLD? USE HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief. How good it feels! Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, sniffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

HAND-BRAIDED RUGS ARE EASY TO MAKE

Hand-braided rugs of the old-fashioned variety are more easily made than many people think. The rugs are torn about three inches wide, and the edges turned in as they are braided. The braid is then coiled in the center and seven flat, or, for the oval rugs, two parallel rows serve as a center. Always keep the rugs as flat as possible. The round rugs at the top of the sketch are blue and white with blue borders. The middle one is made of scraps of cretonne and colored gingham, and the lower one of tan and black stockings.

TOOK ALL SORTS OF CHANCES

Reckless Motorist Furnished Every Kind of Thrill That His Passengers Could Possibly Desire.

The Muscovite who was driving our Benz over a Persian mountain pass had the most original method of descending a mountain side that I have ever seen.

Instead of putting his clutch into second gear, he would shut off his power entirely and then go charging downward at terrific speed, the big car lurching from side to side of the precipice bordered road like a runaway locomotive.

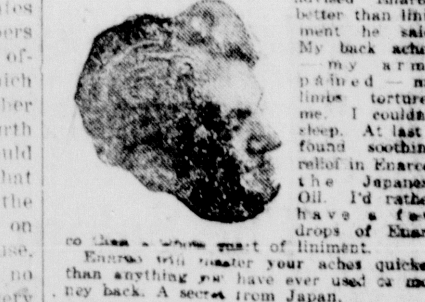

The ordinary curves he took on two wheels, presumably to save rubber, but when we were within a few yards of one of the hairpin turns with which the road abounded, with nothing but emptiness ahead, he would suddenly jump on foot and emergency brakes simultaneously, thus locking his rear wheels and causing the stern of the car to skid around the corner.

And sometimes, at the narrower places, where the outside of the road ended in a drop into nothing below you as far as a beggar could spit, he would give us an extra thrill by gripping the steering wheel with his knees so that he would have both hands free to light a cigarette.

I do not think that I am a particularly nervous person, but am frank to say that I heaved a sigh of relief when we reached the bottom. There were several moments when I wondered if I was going to see the Statue of Liberty again.—E. Alexander Powell in Harper's Magazine.

Morgan Gold Sought By Treasure Hunters

Pomeroy, O., March 27.—Treasure hunters today were invading the Rothgeb farm near here following a report that $150,000 in gold had been buried somewhere on the farm by Gen. John Morgan and his raiders during the Civil war.

How the report originated is not known, but scores, attracted by the rumor, appeared with spades and shovels to aid in the search for the buried gold.

Alliance, Ohio.—I take pleasure in stating that I have used five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, one bottle of the 'Favorite Prescription' and a vial of 'Pleasant Pellets' and I am wonderfully improved. I suffered forty years from catarrh. Two years ago I had the 'flu' and suffered from bad head noises and my hearing was impaired. Last September I was so weak I could scarcely walk four blocks away from home, but after giving the 'Discovery' a fair trial and I can now eat a fair meal without suffering indigestion, and can hear the clock tick. I am twenty percent better than I have been for five years.—Mrs. Isabelle Shatalroe.

Denby And Currency Head In Battle Over Spending U. S. Money

Washington, March 27.—Secretary of the Navy Denby and the comptroller general of the United States were only arrayed against each other today in a battle over their respective powers and authority in spending the government's money.

Denby has written the comptroller general a letter stating that the latter's efforts to control naval expenditures are "inconsistent with the statute which states that the secretary of the navy is the head of the navy department."

Smarting under this reply, J. R. McCord, the present comptroller, who was appointed to the position soon after the budget bureau was organized in 1921, planned today to make a full report to President Harding and

REAL ORATORY. NEAR LOST ART

TEST SHOWS BUT FEW BRILLIANT
SPEAKERS IN CONGRESS,
SAYS AN OBSERVER.

HOUSE TOO BIG FOR DEBATE

Work is So Heavy That, Ordinarily
Speaking, a Member Has but Five Minutes in Which to Speak, Though
There Are Scholarly Men There.

Washington.—In an article recently published in a Washington newspaper George Rothwell Brown, discussing generally the subject of eloquence in congress, says:

"Oratory in America has been starved by the steady encroachment of the material upon the cultural things of life. There are but few brilliant speakers even in the senate."

Washington seems to think that what Mr. Brown has written is the truth. It may be that readers of the Congressional Record who peruse speeches which never were delivered but which simply are remarks "extended in the Record" may believe that some of the fine sentences were delivered with true eloquence. Most of them never were delivered in speech form at all. Of course, some of them were, but it is the truth to say that the gift of true oratory seems no longer to be in the possession of the American lawmakers.

Representative Bourke Cockran was an orator and a compelling one. He died only a few days ago, having made a speech in the house of representatives the day before his death, a speech which had the true oratorical ring, and more than suggested the possession of the birth gift of eloquence. Cockran was the only great orator in the last congress, although there were some senators and representatives who had a modicum of eloquence.

No Time for Eloquence.

The house of representatives today is so big and its work is so heavy that the old-time debate no longer is possible. Ordinarily speaking, a member has but five minutes in which "to say his say," a fact which is not conducive to preparation of eloquent discourse nor for preparatory study in the school of oratory. One must go back through the years to know the days of true eloquence in house and senate, eloquence which was not always employed in behalf of constructive legislation, but which nevertheless had its effect on the hearers.

Immediately after the Civil war there were many orators in congress, some of them of the flamboyant school, or rather what was known as the "spread eagle" school, but at that time they were well worth listening to, and many of the speeches then made have found their way into the books of oratory.

Blaine of Maine and Hill of Georgia were orators of the old days in congress, and they debated one with the other after a manner which stirred not only the emotions but the passions of men. Of course, back in that day was the time of the most compelling oratory. Speeches made by Calhoun, Clay, Webster, Hayne, are today part of the literature of the language.

Attempts are made in congress by certain men to make names for themselves as orators, but these attempts are those of men who only think that they are orators, or that possibly they are not quite sure and cannot be sure until they have tried to find it through giving it expression. Mostly these attempts result in failures. However, some of the senators and representatives who hold the mistaken thought that they have at least the makings of oratory in them, keep at their talking task while others, partly but not highly gifted, refuse to make an effort to get a reputation which they inwardly feel is impossible to attain.

Scholarly Men in Congress.

There are in congress today many scholarly men who can make speeches well worth listening to, but they are not speeches that kindle the spirit of men such as those that were delivered in the days of the oratorical giants. There is not much occasion, perhaps, for oratory today, and it is for this reason possibly that real oratory seemingly is becoming a lost art.

Members of congress in recent years have developed a "give and take" quick-spoken method which is telling in its way. The representatives and senators are paying more attention to developing the art of repartee than they are to the study of oratorical methods. Some stinging things are said in congress, but it is only occasionally that a member goes beyond the limit of the congressional rules.

John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who has just left congress after thirty years of service, was instant on the repartee trigger. Moreover he was a good speaker, but apparently he never believed that he had the great oratorical gift. Seemingly he had a full knowledge of his own limitations and was willing only to attempt activity in a field in which he knew he was qualified to till.

Some of the speeches which are made in congress are dully dull, and the dullest and the dullest they are the longer they are likely to be. Some congressmen seemingly have a thought that strength lies in length. Brown is said to be the soul of wit; at that it seems to be the soul of wit, but all congressmen are not wise.

THEATRES

"Jazzmania"
Mae Murray has done the best work of her photoplay career in her latest Metro picture, "Jazzmania," to be presented by Robert Z. Leonard at the High school auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The amazing versatility of this gifted screen star was never more fully evidenced than in this film, and it is by all odds the most popular and entertaining of her pictures.

"Jazzmania" has everything in it. As a matter of fact, it is more than one photoplay. It has its background for the most part in the colorful kingdom of Jazzmania, a tiny Balcian principality. It shifts to Paris for a while; then to the Casino at Monte Carlo; and finally to New York. Spectacular scenes follow each other with incredible swiftness, and no sooner has one glimpsed a scene of rare beauty than another is dashed on the screen in its stead. "Jazzmania" is really a New York Hippodrome of filmdom.

The story is concerned with the troubles of a young Queen—Ninon—whose kingdom is beset by enemies. She flees to avert a revolution, and her love of jazz and excitement leads her to Monte Carlo and New York. During her stay in the American metropolis she learns of the plight of the women and children of her own country, and is persuaded to return to them. She arrives in time to prevent the betrayal of the kingdom. The people rejoice at her return, and she turns her tiny state into a happy jazz kingdom.

American Explorers Helped.

The British occupation of Palestine to the present time has proved of greater usefulness to American explorers than to those of the mandatory power. The work at Beisan is only a commencement of American researches in the Holy Land. The famous historical sites of Tannach and Megiddo have been allocated provisionally to two other American universities; while a third university, that of Harvard, has obtained a renewed concession for the site of Samaria, where, previous to the war, they had disclosed imposing Roman ruins of the period of Herod, and earlier remains down to that period in Jewish history when Ahab first established on that site the capital of Israel.

While British universities have been slow to respond to the great opportunity which now lies open, there is, at any rate, much satisfaction to be derived from the increasing activity on the part of American colleges. Harmony and enthusiasm prevail, and the friendly rivalry thus established is a healthy and helpful stimulus.

Contented Cows.

"Hawkins told me about following Corot in the fields when he was painting. One day when the master had made a particularly beautiful landscape, with cows browsing in the foreground, Hawkins objected to the fact that Corot had painted in a pond when there was really none in sight. 'My cows will be in my picture for a thousand years,' he answered, 'and I put in the pond to give them some water.'—From 'Seven to Seventy,' by Edward Shummons.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you will be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Grandmother's Kind

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(By 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"YOU see, Grandmother belongs to the past generation," explained Mrs. Avery to her guests. "She looks with horror on bobbed hair, and sports, and even short skirts still worry her. She's such a dear old lady, and of course we can't shock her or anything like that. Why, when she had her first proposal Grandmother fainted. She's often told us so."

Grandmother's sudden advent in the middle of the Royce's house-party was certainly an inconvenience. Grandmother was so prim, so modest, so retiring. None of the ladies dared to light a cigarette in Grandmother's presence, and the least slangy word drew such a pained look from Grandmother's blue eyes.

However, Grandmother was devoted to little Dick. She could never do enough for the child, and she spoiled him outrageously. And that compensated a good deal for Grandmother's presence, because Mrs. Royce was pretty busy entertaining at her big country house.

Her husband, Jim, had been called unexpectedly to Chicago on business, and a great deal of work devolved upon her shoulders. It was a nuisance, therefore, when little Dick was taken ill with a bad attack of colic.

"You run away and look after your friends," said Grandmother. "I guess I can take care of Dick—can't I, Dickie?"

Dick, who loved her almost better than Mother, smiled up wanly through lips twisted with pain. Grandmother sat with him through hours of increasing suffering.

"I think we'd better send for the doctor," she said, appearing suddenly among the guests. "No, don't distress yourself, my dear, only Dick's really in pain and perhaps he can give him something."

Doctor Emory was the only one within a radius of twenty miles. He was telephoned for and arrived soon after eleven. He interviewed Dick, who was now writhing in bed and trying not to scream. His face was grave when he got up.

"It's an acute attack of appendicitis," he said.

"It's run a pretty rapid course, and I'm afraid there's nothing for it but an immediate operation."

The frightened mother looked at him in dismay. "How soon?" she asked. "I suppose we'll have to take him into town tomorrow. You know the car's broken down, and my husband—"

"It would be dangerous to wait till tomorrow," said Doctor Emory. "I propose, with your permission, to operate now."

"What—here?" cried Mrs. Royce in dismay. Emory nodded. "I've brought everything along. I guessed from your mother's description over the telephone. That table will do finely. Get the rugs up and the curtain down. No, no time to clean up now—that raises dust."

Mrs. Royce was the picture of despair. She ran aimlessly to and fro; so did most of the ladies. Emory was disgusted.

"Er—somebody will have to help with the anaesthetic," he said. "You, Mrs. Royce—"

"Oh, I couldn't, I positively couldn't," exclaimed the terrified mother. "I should go out of my mind to see my darling lying on the table being operated on—"

"I'll attend to that," said Grandmother. It was a new sort of grand-mother. The gentle old lady now dominated all of them by a sort of unexpected will power. "Now, my dear, leave the room and leave everything to Doctor Emory and me."

And she bundled the whole panicky, disordered crowd out of the bedroom. The curtains were pulled down, the rugs taken up. Grandmother, unaided, got a pail of water and some disinfectant and a rag, and wiped up some of the dust. Then the operation began.

Grandmother had to get up in the midst of it, push her daughter out of the room, and lock the door. Then she took up the ether bottle again.

"Well, we're doing finely, and he's just coming out of the anaesthetic," said Emory an hour later. "Perhaps you'll sit by him a while, Mrs. Royce. I think your mother's tired out."

There was an excited, chattering mob outside. "What a wonderful woman! Who would have thought a gentle, thudd old lady like that could have proved herself such a—heroine!"

Grandmother stood among them, whiter than a sheet. "Yes, very successful, the doctor says, but it wouldn't have done to have waited even an hour longer. What, my dear?—Oh, no, no, surely any woman who's worth her salt would be able to do a little thing like—like that—"

Then Grandmother fainted.

Winter Solstice.

The winter solstice, which marks the beginning of winter in the northern hemisphere, may occur on the 21st or 22nd of December. The exact date of this varies a few hours each year. In 1920, also in 1916, winter began on the 21st of December. This variation is due to the fact that the earth takes a little more than the 365 days of an ordinary year and less than 366 days of a leap year to make a complete revolution around the sun, so that the date of a season is a few hours later each year until the extra day of leap year allows it to catch up once more.

HARDING RECEIVES CHEERFUL WORDS

Political Advisers Pleased
By Reaction To Recent Announcement.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 27.—Political advisers of President Harding are greatly pleased by the reaction to the announcement of the Harding candidacy in 1924, it was learned here today.

Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, who made the historic announcement at Miami a week ago, has also the president of the receipt of a flood of congratulatory messages from party leaders in all parts of the country. Some of the most prominent counsellors in the party have wired that "the country was waiting for it," and that the announcement at this time would give a much needed clarification to the political atmosphere.

This view is also taken by members of the president's immediate party. Whatever else it has done, they said today, it had served to check, if not to stop altogether, much of the quiet grooming of various other candidates that has been in progress ever since rumors became current that Mr. Harding would not be a candidate.

BANNER AWARDED FOR SAFETY FIRST

Salem Telephone District
Has Least Number Of Accidents.

The Salem office of the Ohio Bell Telephone company has been awarded the blue and gold banner given by district headquarters for the office with the least number of accidents during the month of February.

The Salem district, embracing East Liverpool, Steubenville, Wellsville, Lisbon and other towns, did not have one accident during the month of February and will retain possession of the banner during March.

Accident prevention and first aid are two important subjects taught through the Bell districts. It was explained by H. M. Huffman, new manager of the Salem office. First aid teams from all offices of the Salem district competed in a contest last week to determine the team that would represent this district at the state first aid contests to be held Friday evening in Akron.

The East Liverpool team with a percentage of 97 per cent, won the right to represent the district. The Salem team ranked next with a mark of 94. The East Liverpool team gave a demonstration of its work before the Kiwanis club there recently and was highly complimented by physicians.

HANDICAP IN BUSINESS LIFE

Foolish Wasters of Time, Like the Poor, Would Seem to Be Always With Us.

Most humans in big cities and in some smaller ones are handicapped more than enough by elevators, street cars, traffic, crowded sidewalks and the fellows who have stories to tell. But, worse than any of these, is the handicap caused by the clasp who can't take instructions without discussing all about how long it required Noah to build the ark. Many persons just cannot discuss a matter of business and be done within the time allotted to them by those who have called upon them to tell what should be done. It is one of the most pitiable of our failings that usually twice as many words need be used in giving simple instructions as are required. Then, frequently, it is necessary to send one or additional memoranda to inform people that the original instructions were given to be carried out.

We have always placed a lot of confidence in those who promptly approach and finish their business conversation; we have much respect for the man who says, "All right" then goes and does what he's told—and never forgets. But we have only pity for those who dillydally in their business discussions and have to be reminded time and again of the simple tasks they are asked to perform.—Cleveland Commercial.

Drew Fifty Years On Stage Is Still In Love With Art

New York, March 27.—"If I had my life to spend again, I should spend it, as I did, on the stage."

There were no regrets for John Drew, dean of America's great actor family, as he celebrated Sunday the 50th anniversary of his maiden appearance behind the footlights.

Drew signaled his half century milestone by predicting a great stage career for his grand son, three-year-old scion of the family.

"The stage artist is, to a great degree, born an actor," he said. "The seed of the gift must be implanted in his soul. Development is another matter."

"Whether he smoothes it with indifference, denies it deliberately, dissipates it or cultivates it into vigorous bud, branch and flower—he alone decides."

Ethel, Lionel and John Barrymore, three children of his sister, Georgia Drew, are all high in American stardom. Drew himself began his career 50 years ago in the Philadelphia Stock Co. of his mother, Mrs. John Drew, at the age of 19.

Salem Cord Tires

Attractively Priced

First-Grade Super-Sized Stock, Offered on an Adjustment Basis of 10,000 Miles.

In introducing Salem Cord Tires to Chicago motorists, we do so only after having subjected them to the severest tests of actual service over a period of several months.

The fact that, as sole distributors, we are willing to put behind these Tires the prestige of this institution, is sufficient indication that the tests have proved uniformly and gratifyingly successful.

In the face of the recent advances in almost all Tire prices, therefore, we unhesitatingly recommend Salem Cords as offering maximum value. Note the low prices.
